Summary/Abstract	This year I have seen many projects that I have initiated in prior years, under the funding of the AAOF, come to fruition. My teaching role has increased in both the directorship of the pre-doctoral and participation in post-graduate arenas. My service role to the school has also increased, sitting on many committees and continuing to act as an academic advisor to new students. Clinically, I take part in our research clinic as well as private orthodontic practice with my mentors and fellow members of faculty. In terms of research, I have now published the results of the multi-center orthodontic needs study in the AJODO and the Invisalign Feasibility study in the JCO. I have taken part in many presentations, CDA and 2 abstracts at the IADR, as well as contributing to two orthodontic text book chapters. I thank the AAOF for their support and because of the strong teaching foundation I have acquired with their help and that of my mentors Robert Boyd, Donald Poulton, Sheldon Baumrind and Dean Dugoni, academia remains a long-term career commitment.
